

STOP LOSING REVENUE TO COMPETITORS AND START SELLING A PREMIUM VoIP SERVICE TODAY

Be part of one of Australia's most highly sought after markets and start selling VoIP with Hosted Network today.

Set your own recurring revenue

Like all Hosted Network services, you set your own margins and are given control over your rewarding monthly profits. With our VoIP service, we offer attractive pricing packages that will provide predictable monthly recurring revenue for many years to come.

Join the movement

Businesses utilising VoIP have grown at a rapid pace in recent years, cementing the phone service as a highly attractive market to be involved in. Your clients can't afford to not be making the most out of VoIP services and risk running outdated workplace communication. With cloud communications expected to exceed $650million in Australia by 2020, this is a lucrative market your business needs to be involved in.

You're in control

We offer a full Multi-Tenant Hosted PBX, giving you a powerful single web platform to cater to all your individual client needs. You have the control to manage all your extensions for the smallest business to the largest enterprises with all of the functionality you'd expect from an enterprise PBX such as IVRs, Call Rules, Reporting, Call Centre Functionality and more.

No limits

No opportunities are off limits. Our VoIP solution is catered to businesses at both the small and enterprise business level. Our solution suits the needs of your simple SMB clients all the way through to complex enterprise clients including call centres.

Build your product stack

As a Hosted Network Partner, you have access to a myriad of cloud services not only including VoIP, but Desktop as a Service, Infrastructure as a Service, Online Backups and DR Solutions - all making your business more enticing to current and potential clients. By adding VoIP to your offering, your business will be equipped with the tools to make quick, easy sales and introduce clients to your complete cloud service offering.

Training

We want you to succeed, so we provide you with the desired training to do exactly that. We offer training in a variety of forms including webinars, workshops, whitepapers as well as sales, marketing and technical tools. Whatever resource you need, we have it and are here to guide you throughout every facet of the sales process.
